jungle guide

bars & restaurants

JungleDrums presents the definitive monthly guide to eating and drinking in London, the Brazilian and Latin American way.

Our listings include the best of the capital's Brazilian and Latino restaurants and bars, where there is something for everyone from traditional to fusion cuisine, and to suit all budgets.

Whether it's Brazilians looking for a good place to eat feijoada, or Brits looking to try some Argentinian steak, our listings are a one-stop directory for potential customers – don't miss out on this opportunity to be part of it!

las iguanas soho

The line-up at the second Cinema of Brazil festival doesn't include any surprises; the majority of films have already been screened at other festivals whilst a fare few have gone on general release here in the UK, such as Linha de Passe, Elite Squad and City of Men. But the 2008 edition's trump card has to be the diverse range of talks given by guest speakers on the theme of "Afro-Brasilia Perspectives". Special guests include directors Sérgio Bianchi and Lúcia Murat and the actors Milton Gonçalves, Luciano Vidigal and Vinicius de Oliveira, the little boy who won over audiences across the world in Central Station and who's back in Walter Salles' latest film. A unique chance for anyone new to Brazilian cinema.
